What kind of possibility to cancel the export rebates of melamine? 2. How far can the export of melamine pull the domestic trade? 3. How deep can the world economic weakness affect the melamine industry? 4. Whether the escalation of urea tariff can lead to the reallocation of supply and demand?

Background for the summit:

In recent years, international crude prices have been increased constantly, and the domestic fuel is in a serious shortage, causing frequent "shortage of oil". In addition, the coal prices have been increased day by day, and since April of this year, different kinds of chemical products have presented the situation of price comparing, in particular, in early June of this year, the price of melamine was sharply increased to 12000Yuan/t. Affected by the rise in prices of raw materials, the operating costs of the companies have been increased sharply, and many companies have gotten into the unprecedented trouble. On the other side, affected by the factors such as the increasing of factory price, employee salary and transportation cost, the operating cost of melamine has been sharply increased, and the risk becomes bigger and bigger. How can the production and sales entities face such situation to minimize the risk.

With such hot topics, in order to have more clear thinking on current and future situations, China CCM.com will hold "First (2008) Melamine Industry Summit" in Hangzhou at September 19 to 21, 2008. By taking such opportunity, we will provide a good platform with sufficient and unlimited communication for melamine manufacturers, trading companies of related industries, foreign representative office and down-stream manufacturers, talking about new environment, new problems, and new opportunities arisen from the market development of melamine, aiming at stimulating good, healthy and rapid development of melamine industry.
